

Exclusive service to companies

We are specialists in ensuring that the small gestures of appreciation that we business people often give to strengthen our personal and commercial relations are unique, original and above all distinguishing.

In many parts of this country and the world there are products that are not accessible to everyone given that their production is highly limited and, therefore, make the gifts exclusive and highly appreciated by whoever receives them, making these gestures of appreciation fully effective.

Gifts and tokens of appreciation for important people

In the business sphere:

• Clients

At Mayol Seleccions we provide the businessman with ideas for impressing both their best clients and potential clients. Solutions with the seal of the highest quality specifically designed for companies who want to nurture their commercial relationships.

• Directors and key personnel in the company

Distinguishing and rewarding the staff that have made a positive difference in their work will mean increasing their involvement in the objectives and underlining their recognition. The extra-salary incentives for having achieved important professional targets must be motivating and attractive.

Check the different possibilities and ask for more information from our Company Service- We'll surprise you!

• Staff on special dates

We have the answers for surprising your company staff on important dates such as birthdays, anniversaries, the birth of a child... or for Christmas with personalised gifts that will undoubtedly be gratefully received and appreciated: optimising the internal cohesion and making the task of the human resources department that much easier.

Also in a more private and personal sphere:

• Family and friends

To show your love, appreciation and consideration, to strengthen your personal ties and to create more emotions and thoughts with a sentimental value that goes beyond material gifts.

A Business to Business service

We select the best products for you with exclusive labels of recognised prestige. We take great care in the presentation of the gift so that the impression it gives corresponds to the effectiveness you want it to have; all gestures of appreciation are important and at Mayol Seleccions they are our objective.

We provide a professional and efficient service that will ensure the success of your gifts.

To make it easier to choose from our catalogue, we have grouped the different options in several levels of presentation; it is also possible to make personalised gift selections, according to your preferences and specific instructions.
